

Ask a company anything, grounded in its SEC filings

Pick a stock, ask a plain-English question, and get today's price plus an answer built only from what the company has filed with the SEC. Every claim links back to its source.

You ask

"What are Apple's biggest risks this year?"

We read the company's own filings

Annual and quarterly reports, straight from the SEC.

You get a cited answer

Headline, key points, risks, and today's quote.

AAPL Apple Inc. $231.40 ▲ 1.2% live quote

Supply concentration and China exposure remain the largest disclosed risks.

Key points

- Revenue concentration: iPhone is more than half of sales
- Supply chain: most final assembly in a single region

Risks

- Regulatory action on App Store fees in the EU and US

Sources you can check

Every answer cites the filing, the section, and the exact excerpt it came from.

Fresh when it matters

New filings are picked up automatically. Otherwise past research is reused and only the price refreshes.

Broad coverage

Any of roughly 10,000 US-listed companies in the SEC's public directory.
